

This Virtual World of Ours

In reminiscing about past activities and planning new ones, we find reassurance in the realization that we are gradually able to plan more in-person sessions. While remote work and events remain the norm, our programs will continue to virtually help newcomers start their new life in Canada. And as much as possible, we will gather the old-fashioned way as well. For information on future events, follow the link below.

Visiting Cultural Spaces

Our team organized a tour of the Royal Ontario Museum and invited a group of Spanish-speaking newcomers who were preparing to take their Citizenship test. We were guided through a virtual visit to the Cockwell Gallery, a space at the museum dedicated to the art and culture of the First Peoples art and culture.

Not a Zoom Meeting

"This trip was amazing! It was so nice to see all the people enjoying nature and having fun. I really appreciate all the effort that CultureLink and Parkbus did so we could enjoy this trip for free. I am looking forward to the next trips."

Climate-friendly habits to change the world

We are excited to announce the launch of Project 2050: Climate-friendly habits to change the world! This national movement, powered by Earth Rangers in partnership with CultureLink, is about empowering children with the knowledge and skills needed to tackle climate change. Project 2050 teaches children and youth that our habits can have a big impact on the planet, and by working together, we can build a more climate-resilient future.

Links for Life

When matching a newcomer to a mentor, our main goal is to help the new Canadian adjust to their new life in Canada. When years after we hear from long-term friendships that started at one of our programs, our job is all the more worthwhile.
